Situation: In a classroom before class.

Tom: Jenny... Jenny! Are you awake? Class is going to start soon!

Jenny: Oh, Tom, is that you? Sorry, I got here a few minutes early and I guess I fell asleep.

Tom: Lately, whenever I see you around campus, you always look tired. Are you OK?

Jenny: Yeah, I'm fine, I've just been working extra hours at my part-time job.

Tom: Is something up? _____ 23 _____ you should try talking with the people at Student Life Services. They were very helpful when I was going through a tough time.

Jenny: Oh, no, I'm not having any money problems. I'm just trying to save up because I really want to study abroad in Japan next summer. I'm going to need to pay for a plane ticket, and then I've heard the cost of living is pretty high.

Tom: Well, in that case, have you tried talking with someone at the International Exchange Center?

Jenny: I've been meaning to go there, 24

Tom: Well, don't wait any longer! You really should go there. They introduced me to a lot of scholarships when I studied abroad last year.

23

- ① If I can get you some advice,
- ② If there is any money around,
- ③ If you need me to do anything,
- ④ If you want to study abroad,
- ⑤ If you're having financial issues,

24

- ④ but they closed down recently.
- ⑤ so I heard they have some good programs.

Situation: Jenny's parents are talking about her at home.

Mom: Do you remember if Jenny told you anything about her plans next weekend?

Dad: Let me see... I think she had said something about having work, but I don't remember if it was both days or not.

Mom: Did you make a note or anything?

Dad: I think I wrote it in my calendar on my phone... Yeah, if my note is correct, 25 Is something up?

Mom: You know how she was talking about studying abroad in Japan, right? Do you remember my good friend Melanie, the one who lives in Tokyo? She's going to be in town this weekend, so I thought maybe we could all get lunch together.

Dad: Oh, nice! I haven't seen Melanie in so long. I think Jenny would really like that.

Mom: Melanie told me either day is fine for her. I've got to go to work now, so _____<sup>26</sup>_____ and make sure she's still available?

Dad: No problem. I'll let you know when I hear back from her.

Mom: Thanks! I'll send a message to Melanie during my break, just to confirm that she's still free on Sunday.

- ③ how about you call Jenny and ask her to take a break,
- ④ what do you think about giving Melanie a break,
- ⑤ would you go send Jenny this letter at the post office,

Situation: Jenny visits the International Exchange Center.

Staff member: Welcome to the International Exchange Center. How can I help you today?

Jenny: I've been thinking about studying abroad for a while, and my friend suggested I come visit you.

Staff member: Is there someplace you're interested in going to in particular? We've got programs all over the world, from short summer programs to full-year courses.

Jenny: _____ [27] _____ so I was really hoping to go to Japan for a year or so. It would be my first time abroad. I've looked into the programs a bit, but I've been worried about the cost, so I'd really like to hear about any scholarships available.

Staff member: If you do a program through us, you won't need to pay anything to the Japanese university. And there are several scholarships that you can apply for, too.

Jenny: That's good to know! What kind of scholarships are those?

Staff member: The Japanese government offers several scholarships, and _____ [28] _____ They'd both pay for your plane ticket and some monthly expenses!

Jenny: Those sound great, but they must be competitive, right?

Staff member: Yes, but every year a few students get the government scholarship, and only students already studying Japanese can apply for our scholarships. You already do, so that's not a problem! You'll need to submit your grades, an essay about why you want to study in Japan, and some recommendation letters. But the deadline is just six weeks away!

Jenny: I really need to start working on that, then! _____ [29] _____

Staff member: The first step would be to look at the university websites. After that,

I'd recommend talking to someone who has had experience living in Japan, such as your professors or maybe family friends.

Jenny: Actually, my mom's best friend lives in Japan. I'll ask my mom to connect us. Thank you for your help. I really appreciate it.

Staff member: 30 If you stop by during office hours, we can walk you through the application process, and give you advice and writing tips, too.
